NEWS BY WIRE.

Thousand Lives Lost in the Terrible Ischia Disaster.

ING OF INFORMER CAREY CONFIRMED.

Strike in San Francisco—Heavy Failure of Boston Tanners—The Cholera in Egypt—Items of Interest.

Cloak Manufacturers Accede to Terms.

YORK, July 31.—Out of three firms and cloak manufacturing firms, which were holding out against the employes' strike, two gave in to-day. They were Meyer, Jorhausen & Co. and Darsey. The Manhattan Suit and Cloak Company is the only firm holding out. One hundred and four outside contractors out of 250 have given in; the majority of those holding out have signified unwillingness to grant the terms demanded. About 200 men and girls are now on a strike.

Cornering Coke.

July 31.—A syndicate composed of prominent New York capitalists including W. K. Vanderbilt, have formed for the purpose of obtaining control of the coke production of the Connellsville regions. The object is to establish arbitrary selling rates for coke, and to direct the business of the region to the Vanderbilt lines. A large quantity of available coke property has already been secured.

Probably a Canard.

DENVER, July 31.—The officials of the Denver and R. G. Railway in this city have no intimation of any disaster to an excursion train in Colorado, as contained in eastern morning specials, and nothing of any such happening could be obtained and it is entirely discredited.

Mons. Capel's Movements.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Mons. Capel, after resting at his hotel, called upon Cardinal McCloskey and Archbishop Corrigan and had a brief interview with them. He left the city at 4 for Burlington, N. J., where he will make a short visit to some friends. Capel proposes to give a course of lectures in principal cities.

Issue of Silver Dollars.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The issue of the standard silver dollar from the mints for the week ended July 28 was $230,434; corresponding period last year, 190. The treasury reserve, which is steadily increasing, to-day amounted to $147,748,268.

The Cigar Manufacturers.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The aspect of the cigar-makers' lock-out is unchanged. The employes say there are now only 1200 of the lock-out men out of work, large numbers having obtained employment in different manufactories throughout the city.

Passengers Due To-Night.

MISSOULA, July 31.—[Special.]—The following passengers passed westward this morning to arrive in Portland to-morrow evening: J. C. Cutter, Miles City, Montana, and Mrs. J. J. Brandly of Knoxville, Mis-

Shoe Dealers' Failure.

CLEVELAND, July 31.—Macomber & Greenwood, shoe dealers, have failed. The liabilities are unknown. The concern was a new one, with a capital of $40,000.

Still Balloting.

CONCORD, N. H., July 31.—In the 38th ballot for senator to-day Pike gained 15 over Friday's vote; Burke 12, Marston 2; Chandler lost 15 and [illegible] 2.

THE GREAT STRIKE.

Situation at Various Cities—Wire Cutting Charged.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The telegraph company say that thirteen wires have been cut between New York and Williamsburg, and twelve between the place and Glendale, and that all wires on the Fort Wayne road, near Englewood, have been cut. Two more of the striking operators have returned to work. Those at St. John who went out have all returned. The strikers at Halifax applied to be reinstated but found their places filled. At the headquarters of the strikers to-day it was denied that wires had been cut by the striking linemen. If wires had been cut by them the Brotherhood would have them repaired free of charge.

The Baltimore Corn and Flour exchange held a meeting at noon to-day, at the request of a number of members, who complained that the telegraph service on floor was insufficient. A committee was appointed, who reported a resolution calling upon the directors of the Western Union and Baltimore and Ohio telegraph companies for better service, declaring that the members were subjected to loss because of defects of service. The resolutions was laid on the table by a vote of 49 to 38. A prominent member of the exchange stated that the commissioner of the corn and produce exchange had nothing to do with the differences existing between the telegraph companies and their employes.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—There is no change in the telegraphic situation here, except that the strikers claim to have captured a Western Union man sent to the branch office at the Baltimore and Potomac railroad depot and initiated him in the brotherhood. A game of base ball between nines composed of newspaper men and operators resulted 19 to 15 in favor of the latter and netted about $50 to the strikers' treasury. A steamer excursion to the strikers netted about $50. The Western Union main office has taken down its delay signs, and its manager reports business moving promptly.

The Associated Press Denounced.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 31.—At a mass meeting in the interest of the striking telegraphers in Monumental hall, Hon. A. Forand, congressman elect, presided, and made a speech in which he denounced the Western Associated Press as an ally of the Western Union.

THE ISCHIA DISASTER.

Four Thousand Lives Lost—Searching for the Victims.

NAPLES, July 31.—Of the foreigners staying at the island of Ischia only three were saved, who were at the theater. Survivors state that they were obliged to pass the night in absolute darkness, and without daring to move, even to assist those calling for help beneath the ruins. There is very little hope that the latter are still alive. According to the latest estimate 3000 persons perished on the island. Searching for victims, were badly injured. Subscriptions have been opened throughout for the relief of the distressed.

NAPLES, July 31.—It is now stated as certain that 4000 persons perished on the island of Ischia Saturday night.

NAPLES, July 31.—Midnight.—Two thousand soldiers are digging in the ruins. They had saved 1000 persons up to midday Monday, and exhumed twenty persons Monday.

ROME, July 31.—The king and queen of Italy have subscribed 100,000 francs, and the pope 20,000 lire for the relief of the sufferers.

NAPLES, July 31.—The only American known to have been injured by the earthquake on the island of Ischia Saturday was a Miss Van Allen, and she only slightly.

INCIDENTS OF AN EYE-WITNESS.

NAPLES, July 31.—The search of the ruins for bodies of the victims of the earthquake at Ischia continued during the night. All the bodies recovered were burned to prevent miasma. An eye-witness describes the scene at the theater, when the earthquake occurred as an awful one. The curtain had just risen when a tremendous shock was felt, and the ground rocked like a ship in a storm. A great cry of terror arose from the audience, who were thrown into a heap, a great number being buried beneath the timbers of the building which fell on them. Then two more shocks occurred. All who could rushed out of the theater, and hundreds climbed up trees in search of safety. Most of the people, however, escaped to [illegible]. Bonfires were lighted. Hundreds of half-dressed men and women, wild with terror and grief, [illegible] from the ruins with torches during the night, searching for missing friends. Among the persons who were in the island of Ischia Saturday and who have been missing since the earthquake occurred, were Mr. [illegible]pume, an English or American gentleman. He resided at the Hotel [illegible].

HEAVY FAILURE OF TANNERS.

The Firm of Shaw Bros. of Boston Collapses, with Liabilities of $2,500,000.

BOSTON, July 30.—The Journal says that F. Shaw & Bros., the largest tanners in the world, made an assignment to-day to E. A. Wyman. The total liabilities cannot be given, but the total assets are given at $3,000,000. They are creditors of Charles W. Copeland & Co. to the amount of $400,000. The liabilities are stated authoritatively to be $2,500,000. The assets include tanneries in northern Maine and New York, a store in New Brunswick, and [illegible]000 acres of land in Maine. From 10,000 to 15,000 people were employed by the concern.

CAUSE OF THE FAILURE.

The immediate cause of the failure was the suspension of Copeland & Co., who owe Shaw Brothers [illegible],000. The failure can be traced to the suspension of the Pacific bank a year ago. Shaw Brothers, at the time the bank collapsed, held the paper of a number of shoe and leather houses. They have been carrying these firms ever since the Pacific bank failure, and the firm will probably be heard from within a few days. The creditors of Shaw Brothers are chiefly Maine, Boston and New York banks, and some of the largest hide and leather houses of this city. The tanneries of the firm will be kept running to work up the stock, which is six months behind on orders.

BOSTON, July 31.—Ward Bros., wholesale shoe dealers, who were reported failed in connection with the Shaw failure, state positively that they have not suspended, and though hampered by other failures they will be able to pull through.

EGYPT.

THE TERRIBLE CHOLERA.

CAIRO, July 30.—There were 316 deaths from cholera here Sunday, and 443 at other places between [illegible] and the Mediterranean.

CAIRO, July 31.—Father Patrick, acting Catholic chaplain to the British forces stationed here, died of cholera to-day.

ALEXANDRIA, July 31.—There were two deaths from cholera here yesterday. The number of deaths from the disease at Cairo yesterday was 215.

LONDON, July 31.—A special dispatch states there were eight deaths at Alexandria from cholera yesterday. A surgeon has died in the British forces at Cairo. The commander telegraphs to the war office that the general health of the troops is good. He says the cholera is less virulent at Cairo, and that the cases under treatment are more hopeful.

Hancock "of Pennsylvania" does not want to be a candidate for president next year, because he thinks it is doubtful now if the tariff is a local issue.

Mr. Oliver Myers, of Ironton, O., says: "Samaritan Nervine cured me of general debility."

PRINTERS' STRIKE.

Union Men in the "Call" and "Bulletin" Offices Walk Out.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Thirty-two printers, members of the typographical union, struck work this evening in the Call printing office. They insisted that the ten other printers employed, who were non-union men, be discharged. This the proprietor of the Call refused to do, claiming that in the management of his property he had the right to employ whomsoever he saw fit. Thereupon the thirty-two unionists walked out. It is stated that they made the selection of this evening (Monday) for advancing their demand believing that, as the Call supplement is made up this evening, the proprietor would be embarrassed and be obliged to accede to their demand. In this they were deceived, being informed that their services were not indispensable. The places of the majority of the strikers were immediately replaced by non-union men, and at the present moment there are twenty-six printers at work.

THE "BULLETIN" STRIKE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—Following upon the printers' strike in the Morning Call office last night the union printers employed in the Bulletin office received this morning the following notice from the executive committee of the Typographical Union:

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.

To the Chairman of the Bulletin Chapel:—Sir: The executive committee of Typographical Union No. 21 require you to call your chapel together and inform the foreman of the Bulletin office that hereafter you will form a union chapel, and work under the laws and regulations of the union, or quit work. By order of the executive committee.

E. A. WALLACE, Chairman.

JOHN P. W[illegible], Secretary.

UNION MEN WALK OUT.

A meeting of the union men was immediately called, and a committee appointed to wait on Mr. Fitch, the proprietor. He refused to accede to their demands that none but union men be employed, and thereupon all but eleven left their cases. Most of the places of the strikers were promptly filled, and the setting up of to-day's Bulletin proceeded as usual. One of the strikers asserts that the last strike in 1870-1871 in the Call and Bulletin offices cost the proprietors $40,000, and says this one will cost them more, but fails to explain how. The Post this evening states that up to noon, to-day 121 new members had been enrolled in the Typographical union.

CALIFORNIA.

A Mystery.

A mystery involving the fate of a woman and child occurred at the Presidio Wednesday last. A woman, accompanied by a little girl, was observed to disrobe herself and child, and proceed towards the bay, only a few hundred feet distant. Nothing was afterwards seen of them. The clothing of the woman showed the name of Maria Gotto.

Plenty of Vessels Arriving.

During the twenty-four hours ending noon yesterday fifty-five wheat vessels came into this port. At the present moment there is greater tonnage in port than at any corresponding period during the past two years. Freights are depressed considerably, a number of charters being taken as low as 47s 6d per ton.

Suit for Heavy Damages.

Catherine Ohern, sister of John O'Hern, who was killed by a falling flagstaff on the 20th ult., sues John McGerry, Thomas Adams and Millard Kibbe for $100,000 damages. Defendants were engaged in removing the flagstaff from the building, and allowed it to fall with the fatal result mentioned.

In Favor of the Town.

The suit of the town of San Leandro vs. the Leroy estate for the recovery of a court square in San Leandro, has been decided in favor of the plaintiff. The court held that the property is public, and not for sale, and the payment of taxes on it by Leroy did not create an estoppel as public property.

Trial of an Alleged Opium Smuggler.

The trial of James Harkins, whose name is associated with the great opium smuggling case, and who is charged with giving $1200 as a bribe to United States Commissioner Joseph O'Beirne, was begun to-day. The case is expected to occupy several days.

Died from His Injuries.

Hugh Gogan, a cart driver, aged 55, was found struggling in the bay yesterday afternoon. He was removed to a hospital and died during the evening. He was unconscious. No information was obtained whether his death was accidental or suicidal.

CAREY'S DEATH.

Particulars of the Killing of the Informer in South Africa.

LONDON, July 31.—O'Donnell, who shot Carey, was accompanied by his wife, who appeared to be on intimate terms with Carey, criminally, during the voyage. The Times pronounces the death of Carey a public misfortune, and says he has been an instrument of justice. The murder is calculated to encourage the daring and lawless to commit acts of violence. The joy caused in Ireland by the informer's death is proof that many elements of danger still exist there.

Third-class berths on the steamer Kinfauns were secured June 30 at the Dublin office of Donald Currie & Co., for Port Elizabeth for Mr. Power and his wife and seven children, which it was well known was the exact number of James Carey's family. July 2d O'Donnell secured passage for himself and wife on the same steamer. Donald Currie & Co., were not aware until yesterday of the identity of the parties. Carey died without speaking after he was shot. O'Donnell is a rich merchant. He denies that he knew who Carey was previous to his arrival at Cape Town. It is reported that an infernal machine was found in O'Donnell's possession.

MORE OF THE SHOOTING OF CAREY.

DUBLIN, July 31.—A large crowd gathered to-night in front of James Carey's late residence, cheering loudly because the informer had been killed. The authorities believe that O'Donnell is a man who was implicated some time ago in an attempt to blow up the Mansion house in London, and who escaped with Coleman to New York. The government selected Africa as the safest place for Carey. It is doubtful whether he knew his destination before sailing. It was not revealed to the police who took him from Dublin to London.

LONDON, July 31.—Later advices about the killing of James Carey shows that he was shot while being taken from the Melrose at Port Elizabeth. O'Donnell, his slayer, is in custody. The government had taken special and expensive measures to protect Carey.

DUBLIN, July 31.—The news of James Carey's death caused many exhibitions of delight on the street here.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The feeling in Irish circles in this city, aroused by the reported shooting of Carey, is one of profound hope that it is true. The report has not yet gained full credence.

EXILE WINS.

LONDON, July 31.—The Drayton light weight handicap race was won by Exile.

ENGLAND.

IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, July 31.—In the commons Gladstone said that before any action was taken regarding a second Suez canal the house should have an opportunity of expressing its opinion on the subject. The government, he said, desired that merchants and shippers have ample time to consider the matter. The government does not intend an early renewal of negotiations, as it is hopeless to consider the question fairly as long as it is based on politics. Dodson said the government would consider the subject of appointing a commission on cattle diseases next session. It was necessary, he said, that definite reports regarding it be received from the American government and from the British consuls abroad.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is recommended by the best physicians as the only reliable blood purifier.

TURKEY.

TURKEY DECLINES TO PROLONG THE TREATY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 30.—Windom, British charge d'affaires, and General Wallace, American minister, maintain their opposition to the proposed patent law. They say the government will appoint an Ottoman delegate, but has declined to prolong the treaty of commerce with the United States.

SALTMARSH, ALA.—Dr. Jas. B. Mills says: "Several of my patients have used Brown's Iron Bitters for chronic indigestion with benefit."

At last there is a break in the solid south—solid, it has been supposed, for Arthur in the republican convention of 1884. Ex-Congressman Dezendorf, who was beaten by Mahone, snubbed by Arthur and bantered by Chandler, has been elected chairman of the straight republican state central committee in Virginia, and a resolution has been adopted declaring for James G. Blaine as the republican nominee for president next year.

THE RECENT CANARD ABOUT GENERAL CROOK.

Hanlan Holds his Honors.—The Khedive Stricken with the Cholera.—More Mormon Converts Coming.

[The wires bring but few press dispatches this morning, and recourse is had to the latest San Francisco papers, which arrived yesterday.]

A Vice-President's Daughter in Poverty.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The Tribune's Wheeling special of July 16th says: The spectacle of the daughter of a former vice-president of the United States and the wife of a minister to Russia begging assistance of strangers in an endeavor to reach the national capital with a view of entering a charitable institution, is a somewhat unusual one, yet such an event occurred in this city to-day. This afternoon an aged lady, well dressed but entirely destitute of money, appeared at police headquarters and asked for aid in reaching Washington City. In answer to inquiries as to her name, etc., she stated that she was the daughter of Vice-President King, of Pierce's administration, and wife of General Jackson, minister to St. Petersburg. She gave her age as 74. She said she was married at the age of 16, her husband being then 22, and spent the first six months of her married life at the Russian court. She gave many details of her life and her gradual descent from a life of affluence to her present low estate. She states that she was from Memphis, having begged her way from place to place and was endeavoring to reach Washington, where she had friends who would place her in a charitable institution, naming W. W. Corcoran as a playmate and schoolmate in childhood. The old lady bears every evidence of former culture and refinement, and the sad story of her life is undoubtedly true. Aid was furnished her to continue her journey.

The Recent Canard About Gen. Crook.

CHICAGO, July 27.—The Tribune's Washington special of July 26 says: A statement telegraphed from here last night places Indian Commissioner Price in the position of being the person who started the recent canard about Gen. Crook. Price did not say frankly that Crook had not dared to disarm the captive Apaches, but he thought that Crook answered questions on that point in a manner that left the impression that Crook had not achieved a victory which allowed him to dictate what should be done with the captive Indians. It appears from this statement that Price is the only member of the conference with Crook who placed such a peculiar construction on the latter's full and free account of his campaign, and it is hinted that it was a malicious feeling growing out of the fear of the transfer of the Indian bureau from the interior to the war department that induced Price to furnish material for the injurious dispatches that have recently been published. Crook's friends here say that Price's statement will not convince the public that Crook lied about his campaign, and as between Commissioner Price's present statement and that of Secretary Lincoln, who said that nothing passed in the conference to give color to Price's accusation, the public is likely to believe Mr. Lincoln. An officer in the adjutant-general's office said to-day that if what Price said was true he should prefer charges against Crook.

Protest from England.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The treasury department has received remonstrances from the British authorities against the return to England of the alleged paupers and emigrants who were going to friends in this country who had promised to take care of them, which emigrants had shown letters to that effect on their arrival in the United States. The matter is being inquired into.

The Tertio-Millennial.

SANTA FE, N. M., July 28.—There was a large attendance at the exposition grounds to-day, comprised chiefly of excursionists, among whom were many Knights Templar en route to San Francisco. In the afternoon the Tesuque Pueblo Indians danced a buffalo dance; the Comanche dance and another represented the love-making of the Utes, showing courtship, bridals, delay and the final happy union of a young warrior with a dusky belle of the Sierras. In the evening there was a grand fandango, participated in by 200 people and enjoyed by several hundred spectators.

The Destroyer.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The torpedo boat Destroyer had another trial in a rough sea outside Sandy Hook yesterday. Tests were made by firing at a target of network dropped into the sea 110 yards from the Destroyer. The marksman easily sighted and hit at every attempt. The boat was moved about neatly, and no difficulty was found in quickly rounding her up. The Destroyer's power to move about, as in action, was also tested, and the result was said to be equal to the expectations of the engineers in charge.

More Mormons Coming.

NEW YORK, July 27.—It is learned at Castle Garden that another shipload of Mormons is expected there next week. The agents are on hand making preparations to forward them directly to Salt Lake. It is also understood that a Mormon colony will be formed in Sonora, Mexico, and negotiations are pending for land there. It is represented that public sentiment in the City of Mexico is averse to granting lands to Mormons.

Ended at Last.

BOSTON, July 28.—The senate accepted the majority Tewksbury report this morning without a word of debate by a strict party vote. It refused also by a party vote to admit the house bill to regulate the disposal of the bodies of paupers. This finishes all the Tewksbury business before the legislature. The cost to the state of the Tewksbury investigation was $13,000.

Mormon Converts.

SALT LAKE, July 28.—The Mormon elders have been extending their missionary work to Iceland, and already twenty new converts have been thawed out and are on their way to Salt Lake.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

Comments on Assistant Secretary Joslyn's Action—A Duel.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The Times says: Assistant Secretary Joslyn was clearly acting within his instructions when he refused yesterday to give the Southern Pacific Railroad Company land worth $26,000,000, which the company had not title. It was a queer group that made the application: J. J. Newell, who has been fighting the Southern Pacific claim for years; Colonel Hill, who has been laboring on the same side with great vigor, and who appeared before the department as attorney for the protestants; Congressmen Cobb, Dunn and Rosecrans; J. Shipper of Louisiana, and the Hon. William Pitt Kellogg, now under indictment for his connection with the star route frauds. At least two of these men have turned a very sharp corner in this matter, but their change of front will cause little surprise in Washington. The officers of the department will probably remember that the people, as well as these persons, have something to say about disposing of this vast unearned and forfeited grant.

CHICAGO, July 27.—A special from Washington says: William Pitt Kellogg denies with much warmth that he is taking any part in the controversy over the land grant which the Southern Pacific railroad is trying to get hold of. He said he went to the interior department merely to introduce Sypher to Secretary Joslyn, and did not even know beforehand what Sypher's business was. Poindexter Dunn is indignant that any one should have dared to withdraw the protest signed by himself, Gen. Rosecrans and Mr. Cobb, and makes the following statement denying the authority of Colonel Hill, or any one else, to represent him or them for that purpose: "Having seen a statement to the effect that my protest, signed along with Messrs. Rosecrans and Cobb, which was filed at the interior department against the transfer of the land grant of the Texas Pacific Railroad Company to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had been sought to be withdrawn, I wish to state that I have not authorized the withdrawal of that protest, so far as I am concerned, by any one, and shall continue to resist with every means at my disposal any attempt to convert those lands, which rightfully belong to the people of the United States, to the private interest of this or any other railroad corporation. I feel sure that this expresses the opinion of Messrs. Rosecrans and Cobb in the matter. At any rate it is mine, and my protest will stand. I may add I can not believe any executive action will be taken looking to the recognition of the pretended assignment by the government to Huntington of this land grant, for the reason that Acting Secretary Joslyn explicitly assured General Rosecrans and myself a few weeks since that nothing would be done except to refer the whole subject to congress in its present form."

ARIZONA.

What the Apaches are Doing in Sonora.

TUCSON, July 27.—The following is a summary of Apache doings in Sonora, as gathered from El Fronterizo: A correspondent from Batispe says, under date of July 7: "Day after day we hear of Apache depredations in this neighborhood. Within the short period of a few days 160 cattle have been stolen, and by to-day's mail we have news of the killing of seven men on the 6th and 7th instants."

A Fronteras letter says, under date of July 12: "Our troubles seem to have no end in this unfortunate country. The savages will let us alone for about a month or so while they go on murderous expeditions to Chihuahua. This week they attacked a party, killing three persons. At the same time they attacked another party near Los Charcos killing two men. A squad of infantry returned yesterday. They did not succeed in overtaking the Indians, who are well mounted, and coming directly from Arizona toward the Sierra Madre. These same soldiers saw the tracks of a large herd of cattle that the Indians stole, and were taking to the Sierra Madre."

A letter from Montezuma, dated July 11th, says: "Apache depredations are repeated here frequently. Last week seven men were killed near Tehachi, and they also stole a large lot of cattle. I learn from reliable authority that these Indians are from Arizona. It is time that the American government should put a stop to these Indians from making more invasions of our territory, and that the press and persons of influence should intercede in our behalf to put a stop to so many lives which we deplore."

A letter from Opesura, dated July 13th, says: "The Indians who promised to go to General Crook have not done so, but continue depredating. On the 7th instant they killed two men who were going to Tehachi with a cargo of wheat. A little further, near Bamori, they killed three more, and further ahead on the road to Grandes they killed two more."

ANOTHER LIFE SAVED.

J. C. Gray, of Dadeville, Ala., writes us: I have been using your DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS and I can say, of a truth, it is far superior to any other lung preparation in the world. My mother was confined to her bed four weeks with a cough and had every attention by as good physicians as there are in the country, and they all failed to effect a cure, but when I got a bottle of your DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, she began to mend right away. I can say, in truth, that it WAS THE MEANS OF SAVING HER LIFE. I know of five cases that Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam has cured and my mother is better now than she has been before for twenty years.

HANLAN HOLDS HIS HONORS.

The Champion Oarsman Easily Defeats Lee and Hosmer.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 28.—The Hanlan-Hosmer-Lee boat race at Fulton this afternoon was witnessed by 5000 people. The course was three-quarters of a mile, rowed over twice. There was very little betting, it being conceded that Hanlan was sure to be the winner. A few bets were made on the result between Hosmer and Lee. The start was made at 6 o'clock. All took water together. Hanlan and Lee pulled thirty-four and Hosmer thirty-six strokes to the minute. The boats were kept even for the first half-mile. Hanlan then drew ahead and Hosmer tried to get the best of Lee. Hanlan turned the stake in six minutes, Hosmer ten seconds later, with Lee five seconds behind. Coming back to the start Hanlan drew well to the front of Hosmer and Lee, between whom there was a fine struggle. A quarter of a mile from the start Hanlan slowed up and the others gained on him. Hanlan turned the starting point four lengths ahead in 9:34. Hosmer and Lee turned together. Hanlan then stopped rowing and took a drink of water from his hand. On again starting Hanlan was two lengths ahead of Hosmer and Lee. At the quarter Hanlan crossed to Lee's water and rowed to the turning stake. Lee and Hosmer kept up the struggle all the way up. Hanlan turned the stake in 14:58, Lee ten seconds later and Hosmer two seconds behind him. Hanlan spurted after all three had turned, gaining a good lead, and settled down to twenty-eight strokes to the minute.

Hosmer, shortly after turning, spurted and was soon alongside Lee. Both pulled a good race all the way back, and about a quarter of a mile from the finish both drew by Hanlan and the three rowed even, side by side, for a short distance, when Hanlan, by a few strong strokes, opened the lead several lengths from Hosmer, who was at it ahead of Lee. When a few rods from the finish Hanlan quickened his stroke and crossed the score winner, Hosmer half a length ahead of Lee. Time—Hanlan, 19:49; Hosmer, 19:50; Lee, 19:51. Henly of Oswego pulled outside and was not a bad fourth. The time recorded shows that the course was not a full three miles. Hanlan, Hosmer and Lee have started for the St. Paul regatta.

The Mystery of a Buried Skeleton.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 28.—The following particulars have been learned in regard to the finding of the remains of Lee, the lost prospector who disappeared so mysteriously three years ago: It seems that a German named A. Lewis Hoffman, who has been prospecting in the northern part of the county, made a statement to McAdams, Reed, Petty and others who were prospecting in that vicinity that he knew all about Lee's murder and where Lee was buried, stating that his head had been crushed in with a rock, and that a hole about six feet deep had been dug in the ground into which he had been dumped. He gave the locality as about a mile from the Old Woman's spring. This was some time ago, and little notice was taken of it. About two months ago while at Campbell's station Hoffman repeated the story, and Mr. Campbell thinking there might be something in it, brought word to the sheriff, and Deputy Corbett was dispatched to work up the case. Taking the directions indicated by Hoffman, they found a spot answering to his description where the ground had been dug and burnt over, and they at once began to dig for the remains. They had reached a depth of about three feet when they came to the skeleton of a tall man, wrapped in a blanket, but no remains of flesh could be found, and only a small portion of his clothing. The body was doubled up and the right side of the skull was crushed in, evidently with a stone as described by Hoffman. After viewing the remains, and corroborating Hoffman's story Corbett went to Kane Springs and arrested Hoffman. Hoffman now denies all knowledge of the matter, and asserts that the remains were not Lee's, but some other man's, whom he dare not tell. Deputy Sheriff Corbett is now in search of an Indian, who is supposed to know something about the affair, and Coroner H. W. Rice is making preparations to go out and bring in the remains and hold an inquest. Old Woman's Springs is about 120 miles from here, and is a lonely, cheerless spot, where such a crime might well be committed.

ACCIDENTS.

A LOGGING DISASTER.

DETROIT, July 21.—A calamity which had been threatened at Grand Rapids for the past three days took place this morning. An immense jam of logs extending up Grand river a number of miles has been lodged against the bridge of the Detroit and Grand Haven railway. The bridge succumbed this forenoon and went down with a rush. The bridge of the Grand Rapids and Chicago and West Michigan followed suit. Millions of feet of logs have gone down the river. It is almost certain to continue, sweeping every thing before them into Lake Michigan. If this proves true a large addition, number of logs will be carried out of Grand Haven, as well as all the bridges there. The ultimate losses, it is feared, will reach many hundreds of thousands of dollars. The calamity is unprecedented in this section.

TILLAMOOK COUNTY.

An "Oregonian" Reporter has Something More to Say About that Unknown Region.

AND ITS NATURAL RESOURCES.

The Fern Prairies Better than they Have Been Described—Dairy Farms and How they Improve the Country—The Bay and its Navigation.

In a former letter I spoke of the prairie lands of Tillamook county as being mostly inferior to the maple bottoms lying along the six rivers which water that county—the three largest being the Nestucca, the Wilson and the Trask. The prairie lands extend from the Wilson southward to a point about ten miles below the Nestucca, making a broad and level prairie about forty-five miles north and south by eleven or twelve east and west, though wider at the south end than at the north. These lands are not so gravelly as the prairies in Pierce and Thurston counties in Washington territory, and in a general way, are better and more valuable lands for anything in the shape of dairy farming. True they raise good oats and rye there, but the wheat is inferior in quality to that grown in the inland empire. The great pest in this section is the native fern, which grows waist high, and is very hard to exterminate. My own belief, however, is that it has been going to seed there for centuries, and when once it becomes fairly eradicated, the people will not be troubled with it again. This involves labor, of course, and some people are severely opposed to anything of that sort. But just look at the delta at the confluence of the San Joaquin and Sacramento. There is a tract of land nearly 110 miles square, all covered with vegetable gardens and peach orchards. In the winter time two steamers of the size of the Willamette Chief can do all the business of that section; but from May to November it employs a dozen. It cost from $60 to $85 per acre to reclaim it, and there is not an acre of it for sale at less than $300. My belief is that the fern prairies of Tillamook can be made good pasture lands by uprooting the ferns and giving

THE WHITE CLOVER

A chance to grow. The heavy fogs and dews of the coast section keep the clover green all through the summer months, and even the present dry-season was no exception, although the shamrock did not grow as rank as in former years. But with so well watered a section as this is by nature, dairy farming cannot prove otherwise than successful. Indeed, it is hard to say if any portion of the Pacific coast between Point Loma and Sitka possesses such rare facilities for good stock raising and dairy farming as Tillamook county does. And the lands along the "south prairie," which is really the valley of the Nestucca, are better than the prairie lands about Hoquarton. The "south prairie" would readily afford homes and employment for a thousand such families as might be found in New Hampshire and Vermont, people who are thrifty by nature and who do not believe in paying cash for anything that will grow in the ground. In a word, the only class of people who can hope to accumulate anything there is the thrifty and industrious class which raises a little of everything. The beef cattle slaughtered in the Astoria shambles are grown and fattened almost entirely in Tillamook county, and for quality they cannot be surpassed. The day of such cattle-breeding as allows 200 head of cows to range with a sight of the house which boasts neither milk nor butter on its table, has gone by for western Oregon; and more's the pity that such a condition of affairs should ever have been allowed to exist, here or anywhere else. The idea that a man should breed cattle wholly for the slaughter pen and ignore the comforts which a well-regulated buttery brings to every home, is contrary to reason if not to decency. The man who undertakes to get a living outside of a store or workshop hereafter, must operate upon

PRINCIPLES OF GENERAL FARMING

And ignore all attempts at specialties. He must not confine his labors to the production of wheat and oats, buying his bacon and butter for cash, and getting without beets, cabbage and tomatoes altogether. That is not only a comfortless way for one man himself to live, but it is a bad way for him to bring up his children. The right way is for a man to enter off a piece of land, or buy one already cleared, and begin with from six to ten cows. As his stock increase in obedience to the law of nature, let him retain the heifers for dairy purposes and emasculate the male calves. These can either be broken to the yoke for logging camp purposes, for which class of animals there is a large and growing demand, or they can be sold for slaughter at three years old. In the meantime there must be a patch of oats for the horse and some barley for the pigs, which also consume the slops of the dairy. The garden patch will have its potatoes, parsnips, beets, cabbages and cauliflowers, while chanticleer proclaims his sovereignty of the fowls in the barnyard. In a few years of such farming the coast counties would become beautified with comfortable homes and peopled with men of strong fiber and sterling merit. A man would be able to go in there and buy 500 head of beef cattle for the Portland market, just as well as he could in Umatilla county, but he would probably have to deal with sixty or eighty times as many men in buying them as if he had purchased them east of the great Cascade range. In the meantime the country will be filling up with a desirable population and not with a reckless mob of cowboys who live like Indians on the ranch and behave themselves worse than savages whenever they come into the one-horse towns of the great plains. In the great cattle ranches east of the Cascades there is but little to admire or perpetuate. The owner is generally some man who lives in a town or perhaps in Portland, and the employés run the place on the

"GO AS YOU PLEASE"

Principle, which contributes but little to the growth or wealth of the state and certainly adds nothing to its beauty. That the dairy farms of the future are to be found in the coastwise counties will be readily believed by anybody who has visited the Tillamook region and seen what I have seen during the past three weeks. The maple bottoms of the Nestucca are said to be fully equal to those on the Trask and the Wilson, and to the man of muscle and energy these lands specially commend themselves as the deepest soil and most fruitful in every respect. Every acre of these lands, once cleared, is worth fifty dollars, for it will grow good barley, oats and rye, and a fair grade of wheat. As you go up Trask and Wilson rivers these bottoms continue to widen until it is not unusual to find as high as sixty to eighty acres in a body, at a distance of sixteen to twenty miles from the bay. Such lands make desirable homes, but there is an urgent need of increased mail facilities in that section. The mail which goes over from North Yamhill on Tuesdays and Fridays, reaches Hoquarton on Wednesday and Saturday nights and stops there. This mail should be extended on as far as Hobsonville and the service could be performed by steamboat with ease. At present there is a mail service once a week from Astoria to Hoquarton, reaching the latter place on Monday night and return on the day following. The letters for Hobsonville, Garibaldi and points on the lower bay, which arrive from the valley on Wednesday night are thus obliged to lie over at Hoquarton six days, which works a great hardship upon the residents of the lower bay. By extending the present North Yamhill route as far down as Hobsonville this abuse would soon be corrected. It would also lead to steamboat travel on the bay, which now lasts only during the summer months being kept up during the entire year. But there is urgent need of another road from the valley into the bay by the way of Forest Grove, which will afford

AN EASIER GRADE,

As well as a shorter distance from Portland. The men who open up farms by clearing off the vine maple of this section, cannot afford to pay steamboat fare and come to Astoria to do their trading. They have their own horses and must have some way to use them in their business errands. Hence when they wish to come to Portland they want the easiest kind of a trail, over which they can ride one horse and pack 150 or 200 pounds on another. In good time, as the country becomes settled up, this trail can be widened out into a wagon road, over which a man can drive between sunrise and sunset from Forest Grove to Hoquarton. This proposed road runs for several miles through a body of land owned by the Oregon and California Railroad Company. About seven miles of this trail, away in the head of Wilson river, yet remain unfinished, and it will take six men about fifteen days to hew it through and make a good trail of it, provided they go to work at once while the weather is clear and the days are long. But let it go till October or November, and it will require twice that time. Once cut the trail through and every thrifty and forehanded dairyman along the road will come to Portland to buy his winter supplies; first because he can get better prices for his butter here than at Forest Grove or at any of the Tillamook towns; and secondly, because he can buy his winter supplies cheaper here than elsewhere. Stout fellows like those who live up in the tall timber along Wilson river would make short work of the unfinished gap in that trail, if once they got their axes in. And yet there are some of the most enormous trees along the route that ever I have seen. Trees of five feet in diameter at a height of 80 feet from the ground, are by no means uncommon after you pass the forks, coming eastward. Yet with all these natural obstacles in view, my faith is strong that the trail can be put through in fifteen days by six good hewers who are not afraid of work and can work to advantage in

SUCH BIG TIMBER

As is to be found along these rivers. Whether Tillamook will ever be a great lumbering county, is yet to be seen. The main obstacle, as I now understand the case to be, is not so much in getting a lumber-laden vessel to sea, as in getting logs to tide-water and bringing them into booms along the bay shore at a low cost. All these rivers have immense "jams" of fallen timber in them. To remove them would cost more money than to cut canals around them, but once removed, the settlers along the Trask, Nestucca and Wilson rivers, could drive logs to mill seven months in the year and obtain cash for what they are now compelled to burn up and waste in clearing their lands. For all fencing purposes the settlers have more timber than they want; and as for firewood, nothing gives finer coals to broil a venison steak than a good vine maple fire. These trees grow so large in this humid climate that it is nothing unusual to see four large fence posts split out of a single tree. Staves are made from spruce and shipped out by every steamer from Hobsonville which is owned by Leitzenweber and associates, and which may be said to be virtually the port of entry for the bay. These staves are shipped to San Francisco from Astoria, and are used in the manufacture of kegs, or syrup and pickles. Spruce is also preferred to all other lumber for dry goods boxes. Of course all the lumber will have to be pretty well whittled off the Columbia river mills before the Tillamook sawmills can hope to compete successfully in the lumber market of Portland, but San Francisco would afford a market, and such vessels as the Premier, Laura May and Genl. Hayward could embark in the Tillamook trade and make it profitable. Of course, it would not pay to run empty vessels back, and since Tillamook begins shipping lumber to San Francisco for sale, there is

AN IMMEDIATE DEMAND

Of a little trade going there that now comes to Portland. For if Portland will not buy Tillamook lumber and San Francisco will buy it, then San Francisco will be the place where the Tillamook merchants will buy their goods and with what they have seen of Tillamook county, with its fertile soil and its equable climate, I should like to see that trade leave Portland for San Francisco. It is one of the most naturally productive counties about the state and its trade should be one of the most reliable [illegible] of the metropolis. The bar at the entrance of the harbor shows safer than either Yaquina, Umpqua or Coos, having twenty feet clear water at high tide, when the General Miles crossed it last Saturday night. But there is not a real need now for a steamer which is just exactly adapted to the needs and requirements of what the trade will be before two years more have passed over. Should it be light enough to go up to Hoquarton with the cargo, but she is deficient in power, and is not built up against a nor'wester quite as well as might be desired. The General Miles is a stanch and fast boat in all conditions, but she draws too much water to go up the bay, and is obliged to ship her freight by a small boat, which makes the trip [illegible] the summer season under the command of Capt. Ben Hawk, and either of these boats is exactly what is required for the trade, although the [illegible] frequent trips hither and serve the [illegible] by those formerly isolated people. The Miles could have been built fifteen feet longer and [illegible] wider than she now is, and yet be fast while carrying one-third larger cargo. [illegible] is so built that she could not be [illegible] clearing her machinery while [illegible] owners do not care to take

THE PEOPLE WANT A STEAMER

For Tillamook and Gray's Harbor trade, [illegible] should be built here regardless of the speed [illegible] Miles has been, and with greater difference to carrying capacity. The Miles draws nine feet of water loaded, and the Field draws six. The boat that will be required to do the business of that port should draw but little water when empty, so as to be able to carry as much as the Miles and the Field together, or enough to run shallow water also, and [illegible] to get aground [illegible]. In case of accident, although straining her [illegible]. The compound engine of the Miles are all right, and could be better, but [illegible] boat of which I speak should have [illegible] set athwartships, [illegible] aft, the high pressure engine [illegible] low-pressure size. These [illegible] independent of each other, like [illegible] (the best boat ever on this coast) and [illegible] as to back one while going ahead on the other therefore enabling the vessel to turn within her own length when navigating tortuous channels. Such a boat could do the work of the Miles and the Field together with heavier power than that of the Miles and [illegible] greater consumption of fuel. The products of Tillamook county will never be as valuable as to admit of high rates of freight, hence the vessel which navigates those waters must be able to carry 80 tons of freight on six feet of water, and deliver her own cargo at all points without the additional expense of lightering. [illegible] between Garibaldi and the upper landings. The [illegible] has already begun to show its go-ahead spirit in the establishment of a cannery which will begin operations on August 3, when some are the [illegible] is owned by

ANOTHER A CO OF ASTORIA

Who are also the owners of the steamer Field. Not far from the cannery is also a sawmill in process of erection, owned by some parties named Smith. The cannery was in the O. R. & N. Company's warehouse in Astoria at the time of the big blaze, and has since been rescued from the wreck of the bay, in a damaged condition. It is now being set up on their mill site, which has been blasted out of the solid rock opposite Garibaldi. When this is completed, all the salmon boxes for the Tillamook canneries will be sawed there, thus saving the freight on box shooks from Astoria. All the cases of salmon canned at Tillamook are branded "Tillamook," and the cans are called Keswick. If the fisheries are conducted as [illegible] are managed by men as conscientious as Mr. Leitzenweber, the price of genuine Columbia river salmon would advance and that of Sacramento salmon would remain the same proportion. Take it for all in all I have seen no part of western Oregon that offers better inducements to men of real pluck and industry than Tillamook county, anywhere between the Kilchis and the Nestucca (the pronounced Kelsey by the [illegible]), and there is room enough to support one thousand families additional on government land, to say nothing of railroad lands within the limits of the county which may be secured on easy terms by application to the railroad company's land agent. But it is no place for men to go who are afraid of hard work. It requires labor to clear the land and energy in working it, but when once cleared, it is as good a country as any man could ask for. Its total population in 1880 was 970 for the year 1882, and its estimated population by the census of 1880 was 970. My own belief is that its vote at the general election of 1884 will show more votes than it had population in 1880.

THE NESTUCCA PEOPLE

Have had, as yet, no separate outlet for their produce, but they will not have long to wait, for an appropriation was made by the last congress for the survey of the little harbor at the mouth of that river. Captain Cleveland Rockwell told me he expected to be detailed for the work of that survey, but since he has been sent to Gray's harbor. This I regret, for there is more urgent necessity for the survey of Nestucca than of Gray's harbor, for the reason that the latter is well known to all coast pilots, while the Nestucca is only a matter of conjecture even to the most skillful navigators. My own idea is that it cannot be possibly as good a harbor as Tillamook bay, for the reason that the latter has five good-sized rivers—two of them as large as the Clackamas—flowing into it and constantly cutting out the bar. The Nestucca may not have as good an outlet as Tillamook bay, and yet be good enough to employ one, or two steamers like the Field to visit there eight or ten times a year. Take for instance the Coquille, in Coos county. Ten years ago, it was almost impossible to get a vessel to go in there, for love or money. Now the traffic of that same river employs two steamers, eight schooners and a tugboat. Then Coos county did not raise her own breadstuffs; now she exports flour, wheat and oats to San Francisco, as well as lumber and coal. So it will be with the Nestucca. For a year or two we will hear frightful stories about the dangers of getting in and out of there with the very smallest vessels, and then we shall find half a dozen small craft dodging in and out of there all summer. Wherever there is trade, business will contrive to go to market, the little coaster is sure to call for it. San Francisco employs 120 schooners in the redwood lumber trade with the rocky coves of Mendocino and Humboldt, all worse harbors than Nestucca, in my belief. Let the Nestucca valley and the Big Prairie fill up with the right kind of population, and my word for it, they will have no trouble in getting all their produce to market.

JACKSON COUNTY NOTES.

The fruit crop is very short. In Ashland and Eden precincts and on the Rogue river the peach crop is very heavy but owing to the little scarcely enough to mail, some of it will find its way to this market in a year. In the near future we may, however, expect an abundant supply of fine peaches from this region.

Quite a town has sprung up at each end of the long tunnel through the Siskiyous in which saloons are numerous. The soil and some rock has been removed and drilling has commenced at each end of the tunnel. The work progresses slowly, as the rock is not solid and a great deal of timbering has to be done. At Grave creek it was found that the timber at the sides have been sprung eight inches, rendering another set of timbers throughout necessary.

Surveyor General Fullan has returned from a trip to Jacksonville. He reports that farmers throughout Jackson county have finished harvesting and are well along with their threshing. The crop is not up to the average, and much grain that would have yielded a fair crop has been cut for hay, the great demand for this article caused by the railroad work in progress in the county causing farmers to think that hay would yield the most profit. The supply of threshed grain will therefore be small, particularly of oats.

Fires are raging at a great rate in the mountains west of Ashland and at different points along the way to the state line. While going down the hill near Wolf creek the coach was stopped by a tree which had burned off and fell across the road. Three other monarchs of the forest close by were in flames and ready at a moment's notice to fall and smash into the coach and passengers. Messrs. Wilson and some lively scratching and log-rolling while clearing a passage for the coach by this one was done, while a big damage sat on the box and looked on.

Correct View of the Wheat Situation.

In the following paragraph the Astorian presents a view which coincides in an important particular with an opinion often stated in THE OREGONIAN:

Astoria, Portland and New Tacoma are interested in wheat shipments. On the assumption that the wheat yield of the northwest will always be of great magnitude and the markets sought in Liverpool, "great expectations" arise in the minds of many. It is by no means certain that more Pacific coast wheat will eventually find their profit in it. The constant cultivation of wheat impoverishes the ground, and sooner or later the farmers of Oregon and Washington territory will learn to diversify their crop. The constant cultivation of wheat engenders the same spirit that any other form of gambling does, and a gambler's fate awaits the speculation. Again it is evident from our geographical position that we can never expect to be a formidable competitor with India, Russia or Canada. The inexorable law of freights precludes the idea. It costs too much to get Walla Walla wheat to Liverpool to expect favorable results, as compared with the profitable areas now being opened up in British possessions in both hemispheres.

A well known preacher makes the recommendation of Ayer's Pills a matter of religious duty. When people are bilious and dyspeptic, what they need is the gospel of Health. In such cases, the best creed to swallow consists of sugar-coated articles in a pill-box.

GOVERNMENT AND THE TELEGRAPH

The strike of telegraphers has furnished a fresh argument to the advocates of government control of the telegraph of the country. The argument is being pushed in many quarters and hopes are expressed that congress at its very next session will take action looking to the acquisition by the government of the telegraph lines of the country and to their extension as the wants of the country may require. It is argued that if the government controlled the telegraph there would be better, more efficient and more responsible service, that discrimination would be impossible, that the cost of the service would be reduced and that business would never be interrupted by the strikes of underpaid employes. Further, it is urged that the telegraph is one means of transmitting intelligence and the mail service another, and that every objection to control of the telegraph by the government would apply just as well as to control of the mails.

Upon theory all these statements are correct. But in present circumstances they are ill considered and unsound. What circumstances we mean will appear when even the slightest attention is given to the partisan methods of our public service. Until we can secure a general reform of our civil service system it will never be satisfactory nor safe to place telegraphic business, which requires secret and confidential treatment, in the hands of the agents of a political party. For partisanship will control the telegraph as it controls the postal service, but the difference is great. Postal business is secret and cannot easily be violated, while telegraphic business is open and necessarily known to those through whose hands it passes. The unscrupulousness of partisanship would betray the trust at every point where the interests of party or of politicians were involved. He who innocently supposes it would not knows little of the depth to which partisanship under our degrading system habitually descends. When therefore it is said that there is no reason why government should not control the transmission of intelligence by telegraph as it does by mail, it is forgotten that seals cover letters and assure their inviolability, while telegraphic messages are necessarily sent as open communications and without such protection.

Next year we shall have an active and even an acrimonious political contest. Members of both political parties will use the telegraph extensively. But would democrats feel safe in using it if it were manned by republican officeholders, intensely anxious to defeat the democratic party in order, among other reasons, to make their own places secure? Would republicans in case of defeat, like to put this power into the hands of democrats? Violations of secrecy would continually occur, not, perhaps, in an open and flagrant manner, but in ways which would just as effectively do the intended work. The telegraph would "leak." Partisans would take advantage of the knowledge thus gained, readily excusing the breach of duty on the ground that no one was bound to inquire as to the justice of a proceeding in the case of an enemy—in other words, that in politics everything is fair.

This iniquitous assumption is in fact the fundamental principle of action under our politics system. Till we get rid of this system, till partisanship ceases to rule the public service and to use the places in it to reward its servants and perpetuate its power the functions of the government ought not to be enlarged. Least of all ought the government, till then, to take control of the telegraphic service of the country. But if this country shall ever develop a political morality which will cause it to destroy a system under which bosses distribute places in the public service to reward personal supporters and party adherents, if in short, a faithful and non-partisan service shall ever be secured, then as a next thing we cannot too soon have government control over the telegraphs of the country.

A PERFECTLY FEASIBLE PROJECT

The proposition mentioned in THE OREGONIAN yesterday to build a railroad from Astoria south, along Clatsop Plains into Tillamook county, and across to the Willamette valley is quite independent of Mr. Villard's purposes either one way or the other. Such a road would pass through a region of unsurpassed fertility and of a character to insure constant freights. That this region is but sparsely settled now is no objection at all to the scheme for there will be no trouble in filling up a country so well favored. Three years ago scarce twenty families lived within the range of the Pend d'Oreille division of the Northern Pacific railroad and last year the local passenger business alone of the division paid its whole operating expenses. To cut across the mountains from Tillamook bay, however, would be to leave half the loaf untouched. The Nestucca, Salmon and Siletz rivers further south are rich in varied resources, and could soon supply an important traffic. To extend the road south to connection with the Oregon Pacific at Yaquina bay would by no means be a bad scheme, independent of the facilities which such connection might afford for shipping wheat from the centre of the valley direct to deep water at Astoria. The timber resources of this region, alone would furnish a railroad with business for several years.

It is said that the commonest precautions against the spread of cholera are neglected in Egypt and a correspondent of the London Standard appeals to England to assume control of the sanitary work of that country and employ the best scientific methods for the suppression of the scourge. As the English government did not hesitate to undertake the khedive's business in the subjugation of Arabi and his troop of revolters, it ought not to be averse to undertaking the suppression of cholera among Egypt's impoverished people. And the establishment of rigid measures for the prevention of the spread of the terrible plague to other lands may save thousands of lives on English soil. Asiatic cholera has been known to sweep away one-third of the population of great cities within a fortnight, and certainly England cannot afford to neglect any task which may protect her own cities and those of other lands from such a dread visitation.

Not only does the yearly immigration into the United States bring into the country a great deal of money but the producing power introduced by immigration has a value incalculably greater. Were it not for this last the balance would pretty certainly be against the United States. It is calculated by the New York Mail that no less a sum than $100,000,000 is spent each year by travelers in Europe. No doubt this exceeds all the sums spent at our seaside resorts and summer watering places. The Philadelphia Press estimates the expenditures at the resorts along the coast of New Jersey at $15,000,000 each summer.

The daily number of victims from cholera in Egypt is increasing with appalling rapidity. Nearly every city in the delta region of lower Egypt suffers from the plague, even the strict cordon maintained around Alexandria having been unable to prevent the disease from entering that city. The number of deaths on Monday, in Cairo and half a dozen other cities was but little less than 1000. The ravages of the disease are even beginning to be felt in the ranks of the British army.

The debris question is again prominently before the people of California. The farmers who suffer from the slickens are making a united effort to get their side of the question before the authorities, and have just addressed a long argument to the secretary of war. They say that the question is with them, one of affluence or poverty, and that, if the evil is [illegible]ed, their fertile valley of the Sacramento [illegible] a waste.

ARTIFICIAL PROPAGATION—THE PACKERS

The extraordinary salmon run in the Columbia river this season is looked upon by friends of artificial propagation as a direct result of the efforts put forth three years ago on the Clackamas river. It will be remembered that several hundred thousand baby salmon hatched in the Livingstone Stone establishment were let loose in the fall of 1880, and it was then assumed that they would appear in the Columbia in 1883 fully matured. Most fishermen regard the run which began July 2 as the regular July run, though it never before began so early in the month. Others however assert that the fish differ in variety from the ordinary July salmon. All say that the fish taken this year average better size than usual. Certainly it is not unreasonable to assume that the hopes of the propagators have been realized. The coincidence of an unprecedented run upon the year when the Clackamas hatched spawn was due is too striking not to be a strong argument in favor of further experiment.

There is an idea abroad that the salmon packers of the Columbia river are a band of sharks preying upon the country by robbing its waters and utterly careless as to the remote future of the salmon industry. It has been ignorantly represented that they have no regard for the laws protecting salmon and desire to see all regulations removed. Nothing could be farther from the truth. A correspondent of this journal who has talked with nearly every packer on the river reports that they express themselves as willing and eager to aid any measure looking toward perpetuation of the salmon interest. Several signified their willingness to share in any reasonable expense toward experimenting with methods of artificial propagation. And too, it will be remembered that when the ill fated Clackamas establishment was in operation one of the heaviest packers on the river Mr J W Cook spent both time and money freely in carrying on the work after the government appropriation was exhausted. Instead of railing against the restricting law packers almost without exception desire that the close season should be extended.

The whole trouble lies in the fact that there is no organization among packers. In a score of ways their interests and their reputations suffer through a lack of a natural and proper co-operation. There should exist among the Columbia river salmon packers an organization like our local board of trade or the Astoria chamber of commerce. Such an organization, representing a united membership could save hundreds of thousands of dollars in agent's fees and control the salmon markets of the world. The ill conditions of the present year, which have made a prosperous fishing season a season of hard times with packers, could have been averted by a united effort, and even the low prices now ruling, could be made to give place to higher figures if all parties interested would act as one man.

The disastrous earthquake which visited the little island of Ischia last week must be classed as one of the most terrible in the history of such convulsions of nature. Ischia is an island in the Mediterranean sea a few miles off the coast of Italy and had on its twenty five miles of area a population of 24,000 before the earthquake. Over 2000 persons were killed outright by the disaster and 1000 injured. The loss of life has been exceeded only by that caused by the frightful series of earthquakes in the Chio Islands three years ago for many years. In the Chio earthquake the lives lost numbered thousands, and a succession of shocks caused the greatest havoc among those Grecian islands.

It is estimated that there is $750,000,000 of British capital invested in South America. The Alta comments upon this as follows: "If the possessors of some of the British capital which is sent abroad to fertilize the waste places of the earth could only find it profitable to invest it in Ireland it would be the happiest thing that could befall that unhappy island. There ought to be profit in utilizing the cheap labor of Ireland in the creation of manufactures and in reclaiming its vast bogs and moors."

As the work of harvesting proceeds it becomes more nearly certain that the crop of the country will be greater than ever before. The Willamette valley is yielding much better than there was any reason for expecting and while its crop will not be a full one, the surplus for export will very closely approach the figures of other years. The yield east of the mountains will be enormous. A late estimate puts the export surplus of that section at 180,000 tons or nearly double the surplus of last year.

As the number of telegraph messages sent by the Western Union annually is about 40,000,000 or more than 100,000 daily the number of persons inconvenienced by the total interruption of the work of the wires can easily be estimated. And the cost of the strike to those of the employes of the 12,000 offices of the Western Union who have abandoned their places makes a vast sum of money each day.

DENIS KEARNEY CHALLENGED

Wong Chin Foo Ready to Meet Him with Chopsticks or Krupp Guns

The pathway of Denis Kearney in New York is not strewn with roses. He has been jeered at by the central labor union, sat down on by the park commissioners, and as a last insult has been challenged by Wong Chin Foo of the Chinese American to a mortal combat. Thinking that possibly Kearney might have succumbed to the forces which have been working against him since his arrival in New York a reporter called upon the Sand lot orator at the Astor house to learn his plans.

"What do I intend to do in regard to China's challenge? I will tell you," said Mr Kearney as he began pacing up and down the floor. "I shall entirely ignore that fellow and his scurrilous letter. It is simply an effort on the part of the opposition to turn me aside from my mission. The Chinese question is a dead issue and I don't propose to spend any time discussing it now. There are weightier subjects than that for me to attend to. My mission is to help the masses to obtain higher wages. I am going to execute it and will not be deterred from this work by the low blackguard vaporings of Chin Foo, Ah Coon, Kee Yah, Hung Fat, Fong or any other representative of Asia's almond eyed lepers. If China's letter had been couched in respectful language I would have answered it. No [illegible] but the [illegible] Chinaman [illegible] the penitentiary is full of smart fellows. He has come in the nick of time to the rescue of the little [illegible] and schemers who claim to carry around the interests of the laboring classes of New York in their breeches pockets. These men certainly should feel proud of their new found supporter."

Wong Chin Foo was also called on at his office and when questioned by a reporter said: "Yes I did challenge Mr. Kearney, and hope he will accept," said Mr Foo with a smile. "I am anxious to meet him."

"If he accepted your challenge what weapons would you choose?"

"Well I would give him his choice of chopsticks, Irish potatoes or Krupp guns. If he don't want to fight I will offer to hold a discussion with him on the labor question so that the public can have a chance to form an opinion of the man who claims honors which do not belong to him."

Sportive and Muscular S. J. T.

The Utica Herald discusses that delicate question, the age of the muscular and sportive S. J. T. as though it had known the latter from his youth. It says:

It is true that Mr Tilden is 65 years old but it is also true that he is 69 years old and within less than six months of 70. In the interest of historical truth it appears to be necessary to remind our democratic friends that S J Tilden was born February 9, 1814. Over 60 when elected governor of New York in 1874, he will be far beyond 70 before he is elected president in 1884. The United States never yet had a president who was 70 years old. We don't believe it ever will have a president as old as that. In the meanwhile it will not make Mr Tilden a day younger to keep on calling him 65.

Results of Liquor Taxation.

New York Herald.

It is reported that the receipts under the Scott law have proved so large in Cleveland that a movement is on foot to reduce the general tax levy as a redundant revenue will result if it is continued at the present rate. If this be true why would it not be well for other states to take the same means of raising revenue? An impost upon the sale of intoxicating liquors is to be defended, not only on the grounds of health and morality but also for economic reasons as it does not increase the price of a necessary of life and is paid only by those who pour the liquors down their throats.

To say that the extra money which protection compels the whole people to pay for these things, does not go directly into the pockets of the few hundreds that produce them is to be a ghostly fool vagrant in the moon gilded fens and frosted [illegible] of [illegible] lamentable error and impotent nonsense.

Edmund G Ross, ex-United States senator from Kansas is now editor of the Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal. He will be remembered as the Johnsonized republican senator during the famous impeachment trial in '67.

Joseph Cilley of New Hampshire now 92 years of age is the oldest ex United States senator (in years) now living. He entered the senate in 1846 and still resides on the Cilley homestead in Nottingham, in the enjoyment of good health.

It is wickedly said that the sole reason for the democratic refusal to admit that Tilden is really dead as a presidential candidate is that the expectant candidates for the vice presidency are sure that through him they see their quick transfer to the executive chair. [illegible] when the venerable chief on the ticket is sure to die within a month after his inauguration.

The Mexican government is making an effort to rehabilitate the valley of Mexico with fruits and trees, having become almost wholly denuded of trees. The experiment will be watched with great interest in this country which of late has been taking a deep interest in forestry. A contract has been made by President Gonzales for the planting of 2,000,000 trees in the valley of Mexico within the four years beginning March 15 1884.

The Commercial and Financial Chronicle thinks the present cotton crop will be the largest ever produced in the south. It is estimated to be 7,100,000 bales or 1,600,000 bales larger than that last year and 600,000 bales larger than the great crop on record. Yet in 1866 we used to be told that one thing in agriculture was certain and that the south could never get around it, which was that cotton could never be raised by free labor. The crop of 1860 the largest up to that time, was 4,[illegible] bales. We live and learn.

The increased revenue derived from saloons under the Scott law is likely to be one of the weightiest reasons for Hoadly's defeat in Ohio. It is an argument which appeals directly to the pocket books of the voters, the strongest kind that can be presented. When the horny handed grangers of Ohio note how county treasuries are swelling with the saloon keepers' license fees which the Scott law compels them to disgorge they will think twice before voting for Judge Hoadly who is basing his canvass on opposition to the law and in favor of "free liquor."

TRADE IN FROZEN MEATS.

P D Armour's Views on the Traffic Between New Zealand and England.

Philip D Armour the [illegible] was asked recently his views as to the [illegible] king of Chicago in frozen meats [illegible] regarding the trade. "Particularly [illegible] in mutton between Great Britain and her Australian colonies now going forward by regular service from New Zealand to the mother country. The carcasses are kept at 20 degrees in which the meat is [illegible] green with a consolidation of 100 pounds of coal per hour."

Mr Armour said: "I have no doubt that they will be able to make a great success of the shipment of frozen sheep meat. In steel beef they compete with us. A gentleman of New Zealand, Mr Banks of Banks & Co of Auckland. New Zealand who have a large house there and have been established for thirty years, was here the other day and told me of their success in [illegible] shipments. But we can beat them on canned beef because we can dispose of the fresh meats [illegible] we don't put in the can at pretty cheaply. [illegible] they have no way of marketing their cuts and have to put all into their cans. When it comes to marketing the entire bullocks fresh I would not be surprised if they could beat us on that."

GOOD CROPS ON JOHN DAY PRAIRIE.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In reply to notes from The Dalles which appeared in your paper of the 26th of July I will say that the correspondent was mistaken for he wrote thusly:

On the other side of the Des Chutes the prospects are much more discouraging. The grain is sparse and the grass very dry and short.

On the other side of the Des Chutes means the John Day prairie. I will say that here is where the bulk of the grain is grown in the county of Wasco. We have good grain crops also corn potatoes and all other kinds of vegetables and that grass was never better nor so good for a good long time. We shall have some 2000 tons of grain thrashed in this neighborhood this season and fully half of this amount will find its way to the Portland market.

This prairie country is just being settled and it has been three years since the first farmers came in here and let any one come and travel through our lands and see the improvements of grain and you will think that The Dalles man is writing about some unknown country at a distance or that he is like old Rip Van Winkle—asleep a long time. CITY.

[ENLIGHT]ENED CHINESE.—Bill Nye in one of his brilliant articles on the Indian question, stated that the introduction among the aborigines of saleratus and [illegible] the open back shirt and the doctrine of vicarious atonement has had a very deleterious effect on the Indians. Just how these rather incongruous articles might affect the Chinese is not certain. Saleratus they wisely eschew [to] the door of salvation they turn a deaf ear, open-back [shirts] or shirts of any kind they have no more use [for] than Donald Dinnie for peg top breeches, but [illegible] they are not altogether adverse to vicarious atonement was illustrated in the police court [yester]day. Three little Chinese boys were arraigned in that tribunal on charges of malicious [illegible] property. They sat in a row with their [illegible] round around their shaven heads looking [as] much as so many young Moses and as innocent as [young] Josephs. As the case was not an aggravated [one] it was finally agreed by counsel that one of them [should] plead guilty and the others be discharged. The meekest and most innocent looking of the [three] stepped to the front and claimed mea culpa [illegible] that. His jaw dropped when the judge fined him $10, but the other two will probably [illegible] and assume a portion of the fine and they [will] be good boys in future and steal peaches and [illegible] of the season more.

[PR]OOF OF THE STAGE ROBBER.—It appears certain that there will be plenty of proof forthcoming [against] convict Todd, who was arrested for robbing the [stage] a few days since. The money taken from the [treasure] box was sent by a Chinese firm of this city [to] one of the paymasters at the front of the O. & C. [railroad]. A bright detective, D. K. Buick, who accompanied Mr. Hogan here with the prisoner, and called on the firm who had sent the money to see [if] there was any chance for their being able to identify their coin. He was informed that among [the] coin they had sent was one $20 piece which had been treated with mercury and was at first thought to be bogus, and they had it examined at a bank where it was pronounced genuine. An examination of the money taken from Todd was made, [and] the coin alluded to was found among it and at once identified. It is also stated that Todd pawned [his] revolver a day or two before the robbery was committed for $2 50, and it is alleged that a man has been found who asserts that Todd tried to induce him to take a part in robbing the stage. If all this [proof] is forthcoming at the trial it will go hard [with] Todd.

A LITTLE TOO PREVIOUS.—In the early part of the [fish]ing season, when fish were scarce, two well known [Fro]nt street commission merchants were discussing [the] probabilities of the pack for the season. One [thou]ght it would fall far below that of last season, [the] other offered to bet a hat that it would be as [large]. The wager was accepted. The prospects continuing poor for some time, the first party fearing [that] he would win, went to Mensdorffer and [selec]ted a hat, ordering it to be charged to his friend. [Meet]ing this friend shortly after, he told him what [he had] done. "Well, you have a good nerve," said [the se]cond party. "I will get you another hat that I [will] have to pay for the one you have taken [illegible] for another hat," replied number one. The [recent] run of fish of the past few weeks having [swel]led the pack to greater dimensions than that of [last] year, and having read the figures in yesterday's [Oregon]ian number two, at the pleasure of ordering [two] hats for himself, and having the whole [of them] charged to the account of his friend. Moral—[illegible] count your salmon until they are caught.

[IN] COURT AGAIN.—The celebrated case of the U. S. [vs.] W. C. Griswold which has been in the courts [for] some years past bids fair to rival the great case [of] Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce. For now come Geo. H. [Dur]ham, H. Y. Thompson and W. Lair Hill and file [a bi]ll of review against the United States to reverse [as] much of the decree of the circuit court of the [Uni]ted States in the case of W. C. Griswold and [illegible] confirms the mortgage they hold for fees [on] the property at Salem known as the Agricultural Works. On the other hand the United States [has] appealed on original suit to the supreme court [of the] United States. And further comes Jane C. [Gris]wold, wife of W. C., and gives notice that she [inte]nds to appeal from the decree in favor of the [Uni]ted States in the case of the United States vs. Jane [C.] Griswold and others against the property at [Salem] known as the Griswold block. Messrs. [illegible] & Simon are attorneys for Mrs. Griswold. E. [illegible]dwell our orderly [illegible] particularly requested [illegible] of this item [illegible] him.

[COU]NTY TAX ASSESSMENTS.—Taxpayers will make [note] of the fact that the county board of equalization meets at the office of the county clerk on the [last] of this month to correct all errors in valuation [and] description of lands, etc., and also that all applications for corrections or change in assessment must be made prior to the adjournment of the board. Assessor Sanders also wishes to remind taxpayers [that] under the new law they are required to furnish him with lists of their property a month earlier [than] usual on account of the extra work [throw]n upon him by the mortgage tax law. The time for handing in these statements expires to-day. Mr. Sanders will keep his books open for a [few] days longer for the benefit of those who have [fail]ed to hand in their statements. And such had [better] hurry up and save themselves trouble. [In this] as in [every]thing with another, the man who has no [illegible] to pay stands the best chance for happiness [illegible] hereafter.

[SH]OULD NOT FIND THE COIN.—Ah Kew, a Chinaman [who]se face is a Roman senator's, appeared in the [police] court yesterday charged with larceny of several pairs of boots and shoes from J. M. [illegible]. The articles were found at Cabalin's place where Kew had tried to sell them, but [the] German there, imagining that they had been [stolen], kept them till the owner had been seen and Kew called to ask about the sale. He was arrested. The proof of his guilt seemed positive. He tried to explain by saying that a man had given [him] the articles to sell, but as he could not tell who [the m]an was or where he could be found, the judge [paid no] attention to his statement and held him in [the s]um of $300. He was taken to the county jail [dur]ing the afternoon, was indicted by the grand [jury]. If he fails to materialize the cook inside [of for]ty-eight hours, he may expect to spend his [wint]er vacation at Salem.

[ARRESTS] LAST MONTH.—The police made 376 arrests during July for the following offenses: Drunk [and] disorderly, 110; disorderly conduct, 12; held as [witnesses], 1; petty larceny, 3; grand larceny, 0; assault and battery, 10; insane, 6; desert[ers] from U. [S.], 1; using abusive and obscene language, 6; [fight]ing, 9; vagrancy, 4; soliciting for hotels without [a] license, 3; cruelty to animals, 1; peddling without a license, 1; prisoners en route, 1; residing [in] houses of ill fame, 4; riding over bridge faster than a [walk], 2; escaped prisoner recaptured, violating [fire] ordinance, 3; selling liquor without [license], 1; threatening to kill, 1; burglary, 1; indecent [exposure], 1; mischievous conduct, 1; resisting an [officer], 1; carrying concealed weapons, [illegible]; defacing buildings, 6; throwing [illegible] [in] street, 1; violating will ordinance, 1; assault [with a] dangerous weapon, [illegible]; assault with intent to [commit] murder, 1.

[A] PHILOMATHEAN REUNION.—Subject to call [the] Philomathean literary society met last evening [and] decided to have a reunion on the tenth anniversary by October 3 next. The president accordingly [appoin]ted the following committees: On arrangements—F. E. Beach, D. W. Taylor, W. P. Olds, O. [illegible] Z. J. Hatch; on music—E. J. Finck, on [invit]ations—A. H. Tanner, H. B. Nicholas, E. B. [illegible], S. W. Mills, Ed. Thompson, White; on programme—R. B. Frieden, T. S. Chapman, R. J. Lin[illegible]; [illegible] H. B. Fiber; on reception—L. [illegible], Otto Heintz, Norwood, L. Garry, Geo. [illegible], Marion Wilcox; on poem—Syl. C. [illegible].

[LOST] HIS MONEY.—A man was picked up in a [state] of beastly intoxication last evening by the [police] on Second street between Oak and Pine [and] taken to the station. He gave his name as Wm. [illegible] and upon being searched he was found to [have] in gold and greenbacks upon his person [illegible] from the dray. When he recovered [his se]nses he stated that he wished to take [passage] for San Francisco on the steamer sailing [to-day]. He was allowed to deposit $10 bail [and] did very unwillingly and was sent to the [stea]mer in charge of an officer.

[A] RIGHT PRICE.—It was stated yesterday [illegible] in this column that $46,000, the price paid [for the] lot on which the First National bank stands, [or] the Opitz lot on the corner of Pine and First, [was] the highest price paid for a lot in this city. A [real e]state dealer stated yesterday that the assertion [is a] mistake, as the lot at the northeast corner of [Pine and] First has been sold by Mrs. Ewert to [illegible] for $51,000. If any one knows of a [lot hav]ing been sold for a higher price let him make [it kno]wn or forever after, etc.

[A] NOTED CHARITY.—There was received by [the Or]egonian last night $22 contributed by the [stud]ent boys of Cabin [illegible], Montana, to the aid of [illegible] Davis of [illegible] Rock. The boys read in [the] OREGONIAN an account of Mr. Davis' loss [illegible] and straightway raised the above amount [that] it be forwarded to the unfortunate man. [If] Davis is in the city he can get the money by [calling] at the counting room of this journal. If not [he w]ill please furnish his post office address, that [we m]ay send the money.

[UNCALL]ED FOR TELEGRAMS.—Messages for the following persons remain undelivered at the Western [Union]: D. Crowe, B. Fellows, [illegible] Abbott, [illegible] Watson, A. Bright, A. C. Kingle, Jos. L. [illegible], Shattuck, [illegible] M. Low, Wm. Sexton, [illegible], W. H. Merrell, A. Gust, K. Duncleter, [illegible] and Frank [illegible], J. Eldridge, Mr. [illegible] Gouey, Sing Tong, Jas. Gowan, Chas. F. [illegible], A. S. Cowan, J. S. Church, Mrs. F. L. [illegible], Mrs. Wm. Philipot, Mrs. Mary A. Wig[illegible].

[FOR A]LASKA.—The steamship Idaho sailed from [Ains]worth dock with full freight at 1 o'clock this [morn]ing for Alaska via Puget Sound. She will take [the] following excursionists at Victoria, they leaving [here on] Friday morning: Mrs. Matthew P. Deady, [illegible] Rev. F. R. Mann and wife, F. J. Mann, [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Delgh and son, W. H. Taylor, [illegible] A. Harrison, L. [illegible] Lehman, J. A. Rathven [and] wife, Henry Sayles, Geo. Booth, Miss Lottie [illegible] and A. L. Williams.

[THE] ROAD TO MT. HOOD.—The Mt. Hood and [Barlo]w Road Company have just completed a wagon [road to] the snow line on Mt. Hood. Pleasure seekers [and] tourists will experience no difficulty hereafter [in] driving buggies to the snow from Portland [in two] days. This new improvement will greatly [facilita]te the journey of those who enjoy and appreciate the grandeur of mountain scenery such as is [found] on Oregon's proudest peak.

[A] FOUR HEAD TEAM.—Goodenough Bros. of [this] City write to THE OREGONIAN that the once [celebra]ted horse Osceola is not in the stage team at [present] nor is a team anywhere else but in the [illegible] at their stables. Our reporter at the Beach was [simp]ly the victim of the stage driver's stereo[typed] joke.

DID NOT SECURE THE HORSETHIEF.—J. B. McClane of North Salem returned last night from San Francisco, where he had gone to secure Walter Holman, the young man charged with stealing two horses and a buggy from him some time since. He was not able to secure the return of the alleged thief to this state. Holman made three applications in the police court for a writ of habeas corpus and one in the superior court and all were denied. For six days Mr. McClane could not communicate with the authorities here on account of the telegraphers' strike and when at last he did receive a telegram, he news came from E. P. Earhart secretary of state, that the governor had refused to sign the requisition on account of irregularity in the preparation of the papers. Holman made a fifth application for a writ of habeas corpus and Mr. McClane, not being provided with the necessary legal papers, was obliged to withdraw his opposition to the writ, and Holman was released. Mr. McClane states that Holman acknowledged the theft and said he sold the horses in East Portland for $100 and the buggy for $15.

ALLEGED FORGER ARRESTED.—Robert Fields was arrested in Salem Monday night by Chief Harbard and was brought here yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Powell. In the spring of 1882 Fields got a letter from the postoffice addressed to Rob. Fields containing a check on an Iowa bank for $109. He got W. H. Watkinds to identify him and had the check cashed by Buchanan Bros. Before long it turned out that though the man's name was correct, the check belonged to another Robert Fields and that this man must have known it. Nothing more was heard from the fugitive until Monday afternoon when Chief Harbard telegraphed the sheriff's office that the man was in Salem. There are two charges against the man, one of forgery and one of larceny. He says little about the affair.

INDICTMENTS FOUND.—The grand jury this week indicted Samuel Halle, Paul Fuhr and Thomas Tilden for maintaining faro games; Mrs. [illegible] and Leo [illegible] for keeping houses of prostitution, and James [illegible] for assault with intent to kill Mrs. Smallden. They returned not true bills in the cases of S. [illegible] Neville and M. J. Redding, charged with maintaining faro games, and in the cases of Harry Gurr and George Stuart, charged with driving to death a horse belonging to E. B. Magoon.

ANOTHER STEAMER STUCK.—The [illegible] of the [illegible] arrived in yesterday morning and [illegible] up at [illegible]. She was drawing 8 feet [illegible] inches and could [no]t get over St. Helens bar so she came to anchor [illegible] o'clock and her passengers and express were taken by the E. G. Reed one hour later. Work [is] going on the bar will commence as soon as the [illegible] arrives here and is discharged. The Walla Walla is due early next week, and a channel will probably be cut before the 15th inst.

BRIEF MENTION.

"Our Boarding House" to-night.

The county court yesterday appointed Claus Schlichting administrator of the estate of his brother John Schlichting, deceased. His bonds were fixed at $4000.

D. Malarkey yesterday made the first shipment of fish to Missoula by the Northern Pacific. He has been communicating with different points in Idaho, Montana and Dakota, and when the railroad is completed expects to do a large business with these territories.

Butler and Stanton, who pleaded guilty to burglarizing the Humboldt brewery, were yesterday sentenced by Judge Stott to serve two years each in the penitentiary. Wm. Murphy pleaded guilty to stealing $80 from John Burke, and was sentenced to five years imprisonment at the same place.

A. Anderson & Co. have just issued for Goldsmith & Lowenberg a handsome illustrated catalogue of stoves, ranges and hollow ware. The press work, lithographing and paper are very fine, and the book looks as if it might have come from the largest Connecticut manufacturer. Verily, Portland is looming up.

L. Christensen, formerly partner of Welch the saddler, whose absence has given rise to so many stories, is in the city, having lately returned from a trip to Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Now if Welch would only come back and tell where he had been it would put an end to speculation in regard to his taking off.

The Star baseball club were engaged last evening in seeing off Messrs. McElroy and Kragen, the pitcher and catcher who contributed so materially to the defeat of the Portlands. The boys were doing their level best to make things agreeable for their departing comrades, who will carry away pleasant memories of their sojourn in Portland.

There are now only three prisoners in the county jail married who are held by state process, and they are all indicted and will be tried at the [next term]. District Attorney Caples says that this is the nearest he has come to having his business so cleaned up for a long time. The parties awaiting trial are James Boyle for brutally beating his wife; Murphy for assault with a dangerous weapon, and a Chinaman for stealing shoes.

PERSONAL.

Woodworth Sutton, a member of the great New York shipping firm of Sutton & Co., is visiting Portland.

G. W. A. Newell arrived yesterday from Olympia and leaves this morning for Ocean Park and Gray's Harbor.

Mr. J. B. Wyatt returned last night after an absence of several months in California, much improved in health.

A. H. Greeley and family, late of Washington, are in the city stopping at 361 Market street. Mr. Greeley was for a number of years principal of the reform school at Washington and has come to Oregon to locate.

Jas. Dolph, the little five year old son of Cyrus Dolph, fell from the balcony of the [illegible] house Sunday night, seriously injuring himself. A doctor was immediately summoned from St. Stevens and the little fellow attended to.—Astorian.

Mr. Sparks, the Washington undertaker who superintended the funeral of the late President Garfield, was in Portland Sunday. He is now in the Walla Walla country, but goes to San Francisco to attend the Knights Templar conclave and will pass through Portland this week.

T. H. Russell and son and F. Hockway, of Massillon, Ohio, were at the Esmond Sunday. Mr. Russell is the head of the large firm of Russell & Co., manufacturers of agricultural machinery. He left for Walla Walla yesterday and will return to attend the conclave at San Francisco. Mr. Hockway is also here to attend the conclave.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

While the [illegible] stands [illegible] no seeker [illegible] myself before the intellect and public of Portland for every occasion [illegible] resorts itself [illegible] when your valuable columns contain such unmistakably Christ like fraternal greeting, as I happily read in your Sunday's issue over the signature of Chaplain R. B. S., I am more strictly compelled in my weak way to express my grateful acknowledgment of the same and say to the Rev. R. B. S. for his many kind words relative to me, likewise his long standing and in fact historical efforts in behalf of my unfortunate people here as well as his practical and substantial sympathy for them likewise my race at large. I cannot thank him as I ought, but simply say there [illegible] welling up within the hearts of my people, and self springs of gratitude which only death can subside, and immaculate [illegible] have said, "As ye did it unto the least of these ye did it unto him."

Farther I take advantage of this opportunity to say that the immunity of praise [illegible] rendered any people and self at the [illegible] meeting he refers to and his many sermons to them as well as baptisms and marriages among them in this city during the three long weary years they were without a regular appointed pastor have erected in each of us a monument in eternal memory of the Rev. R. S. Stubbs—there, he name has slipped out, cannot help it now and would not if I could. With hearty thanks and fraternal greeting to all other dear brother clergymen of Portland I remain in gospel bonds, truly yours,

T. [illegible] B. REED

GAMBLERS' FATAL ROW.

"BILLY" ACOCK KILLS "JIMMY" MOREY, A FARO DEALER.

In a Wordy Quarrel in Paul Fuhr's Gambling Den, Acock Draws a Revolver and Shoots Morey Through the Head.

An affray occurred at twenty minutes to 12 o'clock last night in the gambling room at the rear of the Cosmopolitan saloon, kept by Paul Fuhr, at the corner of First and Alder streets, in which James Morey, a gambler, was shot and instantly killed by "Billy" Acock. An OREGONIAN reporter arrived at the place shortly after the fatal shot was fired and found the saloon filled with gamblers. In the gambling room a few of the tables had been hurriedly piled to one side and the body of Morey was stretched upon the floor in a pool of his blood which had escaped from a bullet hole in the top of his head. Chief of Police Watkinds was present and a few of the employes and frequenters of the room.

It was with difficulty that any information could be obtained about the shooting, as no one wished to acknowledge that he was in the room at the time it occurred. It appears that Morey, who is well known among the gambling fraternity, having been employed as a dealer at Frenchy's game for several years past, came into Fuhr's gambling room and took a seat at one of the tables where one Harry was dealing, and where Acock was occupying the lookout seat. He had not been sitting there long when some trouble arose and some violent language was used by both Morey and Acock, when suddenly both arose and started to rush at each other. The chair in which Acock was seated is elevated on a platform almost a foot above the floor. They had to pass around the end of the table to reach each other, and a man named John C. Riggs standing there in the narrow passage between the end of the table and the wall seized them one in each hand to keep them apart. While they were in this position Acock drew his pistol, a Smith & Wesson self cocker of 46 calibre, and, being elevated considerably above Morey, shot him directly in the center of the top of his head, the bullet ranging downward through the brain. He fell dead and Acock then marched out and went to the city jail and delivered himself and the pistol up to Captain Luther.

Acock's friends state that Morey always carried a pistol and that while he was quarreling with the former he [mad]e a motion as if to draw it, but no pistol was found on his person.

Morey came here from the Sound, where his parents reside, about six years ago, and has been employed as a faro dealer by Ike Gratton (Frenchy) ever since. He had the reputation of being the most skillful faro dealer on the coast. When he was sober he was quiet and well behaved, but when in his cups was inclined to be quarrelsome. He and Acock had a quarrel in the Old Corner, a disreputable saloon and gambling hell at the corner of Second and Alder, about two years ago, in which Morey was beaten over the head with a revolver in the hands of Acock. The parties had long since made up the quarrel, but it is not likely that either of them had forgotten it. Morey was married a year and a half ago to Annie Cassidy of Lebanon. His employer, Gratton, who was viewing the remains last night, said: "He was a good man, honest to the day of his death."

The body was taken charge of by Coroner Corliss, placed in a coffin and taken to the morgue. An inquest will be held at 9 o'clock this morning.

After being locked up, Acock became very nervous and requested not to be left alone. He asked several of his gambler friends to remain and talk to him. A chair in the hallway just outside the cell door was provided, and one or another of his companions kept him company during the night.

He was interviewed shortly after the shooting by an OREGONIAN reporter. He gave his statement of the affair coolly and deliberately, as follows: "Jimmy came in and sat down at the table where Harry was dealing and I was in the lookout seat. He shot off his mouth for a $25 bet (that is, he bet without putting up any money) and lost. Harry said to him: 'You owe me $25.' He said: 'All right, $25 goes again.' The dealer looked up to me and asked, 'Does it go?' I said, 'You are dealing.' He asked me again, 'Does it go?' If I had said it went it would have been all right, but we had orders not to take bets unless the money was put up. I said to him again, 'You are dealing.' Harry then refused to take the bet, upon which Morey abused him, using very foul language. He then commenced to abuse me in the same style, and rose from his seat and I got up also. Riggs, who was standing between us, attempted to keep us apart, and seeing Morey going for his revolver I drew mine and fired. That is the true statement of the affair."

Riggs, who was present at the interview, corroborated Acock's statement in every particular.

Acock is well known here, having been implicated in two other shooting affrays. He is a professional gambler and, like his victim, is a married man.

The locality of the shooting is a resort of the worst element with which Portland is cursed. Not only is it the den of professional gamblers but it is the rendezvous of vagrants, tinhorn[s] wearing men's clothes who live on the charity of prostitutes, spittoon gamblers, loafers and sneak thieves.

The Reporter Must Stand It

Louis Post

As for accuracy and truthfulness, there is no calling in the world which is subjected to so severe a test as that of a reporter. The doctor's mistakes are hidden underground; the lawyer's are known only to the judge; the minister's congregation cannot answer him; the merchant's mistakes are rectified privately; but thousands of critical readers stand ready to pass upon a reporter's work, and if he makes a mistake the paper is called to account for it publicly.

THE EAST SIDE.

MINING EXCITEMENT

Vancouver has been somewhat agitated for several weeks through the discovery of silver quartz mines about forty five miles northeast of that place in the vicinity of Canyon creek. Three companies were formed there, which have located and christened the Poor Man, Proebstel and Cotton claims respectively. Quartz from the latter has been assayed at $30 per ton. Men are constantly at work on these claims and good results are expected. A little over a week ago the fever reached East Portland and C. B. Bartel, Walter Bartel, his son, H. H. Kissling, J. Fisher, Chas. Fisher, his son, [illegible] Epperly, McGinn and Menzie organized to try their luck at the diggings. Several of the party left for the mines about a week ago and last evening the Bartels returned with encouraging news of their prospects. They have located a claim on Canyon creek, having a silver ledge about twenty feet wide. Mr. Bartel brought specimens back with him which he says compare favorably with the quartz taken from the Cotton claim. He will have them assayed to-day. Mr. Bartel's return was caused principally through the necessity of procuring food for the horses. He says the country leading to the mines is all ablaze, that everything is burnt up or being burned, and that there is nothing for horses or anything else to eat. After accomplishing his purpose, he will return in the course of a few days.

MAN'S BODY FOUND

While Mr. Bartel, accompanied by his son Walter, was returning from his mining expedition on Monday last they discovered in the woods about eighteen miles northeast from Vancouver the body of a man, the decomposed condition of which proved that life had been extinct for several days. He had evidently been hunting, as a gun lay by his side, but the body was too much decomposed to ascertain whether he had been killed or had died from other causes. Persons residing in the vicinity identified the body as that of Mr. Deidrich, who had been engaged hauling water in Vancouver. It was given as decent a burial as possible at the place where found.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT

H. D. McGuire, in company with Mr. Stuart, was driving up Fourth street yesterday in a cart and when opposite Parker's blacksmith shop where a wagon was standing, the driver of P[illegible]'s large furniture wagon crowded by on the other side, between the cart and the building material for Hall & Stitt's brick which occupies half the street. Mr. McGuire, evidently fearing a smash up, jumped from the cart and by some means alighted on his shoulder instead of his feet. He quickly picked himself up, however, and declared he was not hurt. Meantime the hubs of the furniture wagon and cart had collided, but that of the latter bounded over that of the former without scarcely causing a jolt, as Mr. Stuart expressed it, who remained in the cart. Mr. McGuire, after disposing of the real estate he had so suddenly acquired, resumed his seat and his journey. Apropos of the above facts it may be asked why the street is allowed to be continually obstructed at the place designated with wagons and other vehicles. These obstructions were always an annoyance, but now half the street on the opposite side is occupied for building purposes they are more so than ever and should be forbidden to continue. Otherwise accidents are likely to occur at any time.

FOR FADERLAND.

Mr. Joe Burkhard leaves to-day for Europe via the Northern Pacific road. He will make brief visits en route to St. Paul, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, after which he will sail for France. He will visit Paris, and thence proceed to Germany, in different parts of which country he has relatives residing. He expects to return about Christmas.

NOTES

Lily lodge, I. O. G. T. will give a lawn party at Lily gardens Friday evening next.

Dr. C. H. Raffety is making good progress and will be able to attend to his patients in a day or two.

T. J. Matlock arrived home yesterday from the East Portland camp at Eagle creek, which he reports as progressing splendidly.

SOUTHERN OREGON RAILROAD NOTES

Jacksonville Times

The right of way has been cleared south of Grant's pass and is moving rapidly this way.

The Grave creek tunnel is being finished off and will soon be ready for the track. It is a fine piece of work.

A portion of the graders are at Jump off Joe and some are between that place and Louse creek. Rapid progress is being made.

The grading is finished between the tunnels, excepting at a few hard places. Nearly the entire force is now this side of Grave creek.

Hurlburt's party is now on the south side of the Siskiyous, running lines down from the summit to the proposed junction with the C. P. R. R. This will take several weeks.

The Siskiyou mountains at the scene of tunnel work present an animated sight, and things are getting livelier as the population increases. There will soon be several thousand men and innumerable stores, saloons, restaurants, etc., which state of affairs will last nearly two years.

Work is about to commence in earnest on the north end of the Siskiyou tunnel, a correspondent informs us, but the south end will not be ready for two or three weeks yet. The ground is said to slide a little more or less right along, which causes the delay. The machinery used at the Grave creek tunnel has about all arrived.

The new C. P. R. R. survey is finished up to the first tunnel below the Sacramento river bridge, four [mile]s distant. The wagon road is finished to the same point, where 250 Chinamen are working upon it. A man named Schoonover, while at work on the wagon road on the 19th, put a giant cartridge into a hole drilled in the rock to crack a larger cavity at the bottom of the hole, but the powder hung fire, and thinking it had missed he put his hand into the hole to take out the cartridge, when it exploded, blowing his hand off and breaking his arm below the elbow.

Miller & Son's mill will be removed to Rogue river in Grant's pass precinct from Jump off Joe in about a fortnight. They have nearly completed sawing 800,000 feet of lumber for the railroad company at the latter place and will next saw 1,000,000 feet more. We learn that this mill will be permanently located a short distance from Grant's pass depot, where Messrs. Miller own 2000 acres of fine timber land, and will furnish lumber of all kinds for the Portland and Rogue river valley markets. A big planing machine will be put up at the mill as soon as the new location is made.

Hay and Grain in Southern Oregon.

Jacksonville Sentinel

The forage master of the O. & C. R. R. Co. has so far been unable to purchase any hay or grain in this valley at prices the company is willing to give, nor has he yet received any reasonable propositions to sell. He says the farmers appear afraid to fix an asking price for fear they may underrate the value of their commodities. This does not look like business sense, but it is the farmers' business, and they must abide the consequences. It is our business to tell them that there is an excellent crop in the Umpqua and that baled hay is being delivered at the cars for $12 per ton, barley sacked at 90 cents and oats sacked at 45 cents per bushel. Now the matter of transportation is nothing to the company, and practically the Umpqua is as near to them as this valley is, and perhaps it will be well for our people to consider whether it is best to sell at a fair price or get left. There is probably a surplus of 5000 tons of hay in Rogue river valley, held in anticipation of a good market, and it does seem that it would be wiser to sell at a fair price than to hold it over for a better market. The price offered by the company is $12 per ton, baled and delivered along the line. This will allow $10 after baling, and the question is whether it is better to sell now or hold for $11 next year, the latter price being interest added. Many of our people have cut nearly their whole crop for hay with the idea that they will be that the locomotive and the railroad bosses, the Chinese and white laborers, were all to be fed on forage, and as we are stating facts they must look the question of selling or holding square in the face and find out which will be most profitable.

Louis Kuhn, manager of the stove works at the Oregon penitentiary, arrived home yesterday after a somewhat extended visit at the seaside, home looking much better for his trip.

The controversy over the water power of the city is still pending between the Salem Flouring Mills company and the City of Salem company, the result being that the mill race is as dry as are our streets at the present time.

At the risk of being perhaps a trifle premature, we would note that Messrs. Hawkins & McAfee, bontons, [contem]plate opening a new drug store in the vacant room just south of that occupied by the First National bank in this city.

W. C. Hadaway, the omnipresent sergeant-at-arms of the Oregon legislative assembly, has succumbed to the charms of the fair sex and was married on Wednesday last to Miss Nancy [illegible] of Lafayette. The old gentleman is quite frisky for one of his age.

Bradshaw and Glenn, the escaped convicts recaptured by Sheriff Pardom, have been ornamented with jewelry on their ankles and are confined in their cells at the penitentiary, seriously cogitating over the uncertainties of life and contemplating the pangs of attempted escape. Bradshaw's hurt is not yet out of danger by any means, his wound still giving him excruciating pain. Smith and Mansfield are nearly well from their injuries, the latter mourning the loss of a good strong arm. Taken altogether the outbreak was anything but successful to the parties most concerned.

A WITTY CUSTOMER

Went to a drug store and asked for SOZODONT. The storekeeper said: "We're out of that, but here is something just as good." The practical customer said: "No you don't," and walked out to a neighboring store and got a bottle of SOZODONT.

Shepherd was shipping clerk of the firm of Hens[illegible] & Co safe manufacturers. His father is a clergyman Rev E L Shepherd and is the head of a large school in Saybrook Connecticut. A letter addressed to him by his son and written a while ago, declared his purpose to kill his wife and himself and asked that they be buried in one grave. The letters states that they had been secretly married and had been very happy together but that death seemed pleasant to them. The police say there was some opposition on the part of Shepherd's relatives to the marriage and that this is at the bottom of the tragedy. To his best friends Shepherd's marriage was unknown.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon

Centerville Examiner: Just at the present time it is almost impossible to procure or even manufacture local news. The town is dull attributable to the fact that everybody and their sons and wives are harvesting. In fact harvest is in full blast. On every side can be seen the header and thresher, each mostly engaged in garnering the golden grain which, according to reports is turning out in good quantity.

A meeting was held last Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church and the following officers elected: President, B [illegible] Cathey vice president Mrs [illegible] G F [illegible] secretary, S C Flint treasurer Mrs H P Webb. A meeting will be held at the same place next Sunday evening to perfect the organization.

The oystermen at Shoalwater bay Pacific county are very much encouraged by their success this year in the business, as shipments of oysters have been heavier this summer than ever before and the oysters were fat and spawning freely.

A fire at Dayton Saturday destroyed Geo E Ekler's barn and damaged one belonging to S H Prather. Several fruit orchards were damaged. Eckler's loss is $300 and Prather's $100. Damage to orchards cannot be estimated. The fire originated in Eckler's barn, the usual small boy playing with matches or smoking room.

Seattle wharves are lined nightly by fishermen engaged in taking black bass. Those game fish bite best after dark and are found near the surface. When the water is phosphorescent the sport is exciting, as the fish dash through the water leaving a luminous wake and when hooked splash about in such a manner as to make a regular Fourth of July illumination.

The coal fleet at Seattle Monday consisted of the ship Jeremiah Thompson and steamer Willamette at the wharf and nearly loaded, the ship Elizabeth also at the wharf and to begin loading to-morrow, the next day and the steamers Victoria and Umatilla in the stream awaiting their turn. These five vessels take 12,000 tons of coal and all will be gone ten days hence.

Seattle Chronicle: Judge Mercer who owns so much valuable land near Lake Union who was for a long time probate judge of King county claims the honor of having been the first to name Lake Union. Lake Washington being the largest and commercially the most important was named after the father of his country the greatest of America. Judge Mercer early predicted the building of canals between the lakes and Salmon bay and seeing that in that case the small lake between Lake Washington and Salmon bay would be an important connecting link he suggested that it be called Lake Union and the suggestion was afterwards adopted by all.

Mr Isaacs' Great Misfortune.

From [illegible]

Scene at Long Branch. The telegraph office. Enter Mr Moses Isaacs. Isaacs (with evident excitement) —Is dere a telegram here for Moses Isaacs?

Manager (hastily running his eye over a large number of messages)—No, sir, no message.

Isaacs departs (evidently somewhat disappointed) remarking "Vell dat is someding strange about dot."

Half an hour later. Enter Mr Moses Isaacs—Is dere a telegraph message for Moses Isaacs?

Manager—Nothing for you yet Mr Isaacs.

Isaacs—"Vell I don't quite understand dot. I'll come again soon.

Half an hour later. Enter Mr Moses Isaacs—"Has that telegram for Moses Isaacs come yet?"

Oh there you Mr Isaacs! Yes, here is your message at last (only a blank which the manager had enclosed in an envelope to fool Isaacs). —Sixty-five cents Mr Isaacs.

Isaacs hastily tears off one end of the envelope pulls out the blank sheet, trembles with fright but is able to stammer out, "Suffering Moses! My fine splendid dry goods store is all burnt down." Mr Moses Isaacs falls to the floor in a swoon.

A Great Shop.

The most extensive agricultural machine shops in the world are at Springfield O. There are five in all. A good idea of the immense size of one work shop may be obtained by imagining a building almost 17,000 feet in length by 60 feet in width. A continuous room three miles and a half in length. At each minute a completely made machine is rolled from the stocks and sent off shipped to its destination; 600 machines from sunrise to sunset—an annual production of 180,000 implements.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

TUESDAY July 31

The situation borne in mind trade for July has been entirely satisfactory. Local produce has formed a very small item but California importations have met the demand although at rather unusual prices for this market. Jobbers report the valley as having bought sparingly in all lines, but the eastern section has drawn so liberally that its all ng of has attracted much less attention than it otherwise would. In a few days we shall present figures for the month and season. The new season begins with two vessels partly full. The Kate Troop is loading full cargo of salmon at Astoria and the Glenbervie is loading a mixed cargo of flour. It is doubtful if any wheat cargoes will be cleared in August at though two or three would be if wheat should offer at all freely. In the twelve months just passed we have dispatched eighty three vessels to the United Kingdom and France, against almost double the number for last season.

Freights are quiet, but rates show no prospect of change. There is nothing to report in grain business. Possibly something will be done in the near future for New York loading.

The shipment of oats noted yesterday was not of the new crop it being to fill a special order from Leland Stanford who desired some choice old. Dealers offered 65 cents for a lot of new offering late last week. This is the present paying price for new here although old is bring more. The situation is slowly but surely changing to the buyer's advantage.

An advance to $1[illegible] is reported in canned tomatoes.

Ripe peaches arriving by last steamer reached us in miserable condition. The next arrival is expected to reach us in good shape. Boxes are quoted at $1 40.

Potatoes and onions in better supply at old prices.

Butter scarce at 30 cents for California roll. No Oregon of consequence coming in.

Eggs selling at 35 cents with stocks light. Chickens in light receipt and firm at $7@7 50.

Telegraphic advices again meagre and received after business hours.

Receipts for the past twenty four hours have been 404 bbls flour 403 ctls oats 19,104 lbs wool 475 [illegible] hides 2184 doz eggs [illegible] bxs butter 100 bbls lime. Also 1792 lbs hides 430[illegible] lbs wool 879 ctls wheat from the eastern section.

The Bonita brought 257 cs turpentine 5 bbls [illegible] cs coal oil 275 bbl cement 10 cbs acid 5 cs [illegible] kegs blasting powder 19 pkgs sporting do 200 cs giant do 2000 cs Judson do 225 sks ground barley 400 sacks salt 1 bbl vinegar 15 cs mustard 9 bxs crackers 5 cs cheese 35 cs pails 1 cs cigars, 12 bxs butter 115 hd sheep. For Astoria she had 280 cs turpentine 108 cs coal oil 1 cs matches 42 pigs tin 18 pigs lead 1 cs oysters.

SHIPPING NOTES

The C S Hulbert crossed out for New York yesterday.

The Mary Hogarth previously reported was leaking in upper works at last advices.

The Melancthon is up at San Francisco for this port.

The Br str Parisian recently arrived at Quebec from Liverpool made the run from land to land in 4 days 1 hours and 25 minutes.

It is not considered certain that the Anna Bertha brings cargo from Hongkong. She sailed June 14.

The treasury department has issued an order which there ought to be no great difficulty in enforcing but which does not seem to be founded in reason although it is based upon a law which has been a dead letter. The rule is that all shipmasters or their agents shall file before leaving port a full manifest of the cargo carried. Heretofore the custom has been to report the cargo only partially, if that course seemed to be the most convenient and to report additional cargo carried at any time which suited the pleasure of the agent. It is of course better to have the whole cargo reported at once if possible for the benefit of the statistical department but that is the only object of the rule and sometimes in the hurry of departure it is far from convenient to do so.—New York Shipping List

Victoria Colonist July [illegible]. The steamer Pilot came in last night from Cape Flattery where she cast off the Pacific Slope outward bound. Coming up the straits passed the bark Star of Peace for Port Townsend and a French bark and three schooners also inward bound. Spoke the bark Aurora for Tacoma anchored close in shore off Sooke. The Pilot left again last night with the Mindora for Burrard inlet and will return with the bark Nana [illegible] lumber laden for Australia. The steamer Al[illegible] x under took up the bark T [illegible] R Foster to Moodyville last night.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs; none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

Croup—A Mother's Tribute.

While in the country last winter my little boy three years old was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY

159 West 128th St New York May 16, 1882

I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried.

A J CRANE

Lake Crystal Minn March 13 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis and after trying many remedies with no success I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia Miss April 5 1882.

I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E BRAGDON

Palestine Texas April 22 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

GOOD NEWS FROM TEXAS

Mr Thomas A. Howard of Honey Grove Fannin county Texas under date of April [illegible] 1883 writes as follows:

I have been suffering during several years from severe illness and a general breaking down of my physical system and have tried the treatment and prescriptions of many doctors far and near and traveled to the Hot Springs and other mineral springs [illegible] for the [illegible] qualities of the waters [illegible] system [illegible] in their [illegible] but all to no avail [illegible] failed in health and although informed by my physicians that my [illegible] and were [illegible] the [illegible] of kidney disease of a dangerous character they [illegible] give [illegible] during the past two years my sufferings at times were dreadful and I had the most [illegible] pains [illegible] about the kidneys the paroxysms [illegible] which were [illegible] Hunt's Remedy [illegible] after using [illegible] bottle my great sufferings and paroxysms of pain were entirely relieved and I [illegible] better and longer than I had in two years before and although I am now only thirty [illegible] improvement is very remarkable and I regret that I did not know of this wonderful [illegible] powers of Hunt's Remedy before as it would have saved me years of suffering. I heartily recommend it to all afflicted with any kidney, bladder or disease of the urinary organs.

"HIT MY CASE EXACTLY"

Please allow me to speak a little testimonial of Hunt's Remedy [illegible] it hit my case exactly. I had kidney and [illegible] trouble pretty bad. I was recommended Hunt's Remedy. I took one teaspoonful as directed. I felt a decided change at the first dose. I took two bottles and have felt like a new man ever since. Please receive the sincere thanks of myself for the benefit which I sought vainly for and found only in Hunt's Remedy.

I will cheerfully give this same opinion of Hunt's Remedy to any one who wishes it by addressing
